Brentham Garden Suburb Tours

Enjoy a visit to our very special Suburb

The Brentham Society offers guided tours to small groups of this historic and largely undiscovered Garden Suburb on the edge of urban London.

Whether you are interested in architecture, social history, 20th century planning, or just like looking at interesting buildings and charming streetscapes, you can't fail to be captivated by Brentham.

Tours are by arrangement with local volunteers.

The Tour

The tour begins at the Brentham Club with an introduction to Brentham, its founding philosophy and development.

This is followed by a guided walk (lasting about 90 minutes) of the estate, taking in its principal historical, planning, architectural and social features. The route passes through some narrow hedged passage-ways and some inclines so visitors need to be reasonably mobile. Bring cameras – and umbrellas!

The tour ends at the Brentham Club with an exhibition of archive materials, copies of original plans, and the chance to talk to members of the Brentham Society. There's an opportunity to see the Club's well-preserved Billiard Room and to visit the Tower, with its panoramic views of the Suburb and vistas towards Harrow and Wembley Stadium.

Visitors are free to stay for a coffee and/or light refreshments in the Perry Cafe. If you wish to explore the Suburb further please respect our residents' privacy.

The Cost

£10 per person - group size min10 max 25.

"One of our best visits ever. Very friendly, excellent guide, stimulating and informative walk. Could not have been better." The London Appreciation Society.
